2. [REDACTED] has been a staff employee and Junior Officer Trainee since 5 July 1951. From 26 September 1951 until 20 June 1954 he was in the Air Force. From about 20 June 1952 until his release from military service on 20 June 1954 he was detailed to the Agency. [REDACTED] served overseas from about October 1953 until December 1955, approximately eight months of this period in the status of a military detail and the remainder of the period in the status of a staff employee.

3. Upon returning to the United States after completing over two years continuous service abroad, [REDACTED] was informed that he was not entitled to the "home leave" privilege inasmuch as he did not have two years of continuous service abroad as a staff employee. The EE Division made this determination on the basis of an opinion of this Office dated 30 September 1953, which ruled that only civilian service could be counted toward the two years continuous service abroad necessary to meet the "home leave" requirements [REDACTED]
